Background

The European Union provides financial support to its Member States to promote economic development and social inclusion. The financial support comes through the Structural Funds.

The structural funds, fund Programmes. The Programmes are cyclical, with the new cycle running from 2007 - 2013. Although some of the Programmes are running late and are being launched in 2008.

The new Objective programmes are called:

- Convergence
- Regional Competitiveness and Employment
- Co-operation

Convergence

The aim of the Convergence programme is to support the poorest members states and regions.

The main priorities are:

- Increase competitiveness
- Build a more knowledge-based economy
- Increase innovation
- Improve skills
- Promote economic inclusion

Funding from Europe

ERDF - Regional Programmes

Use the environment as an opportunity for innovation; new markets; and business efficiency
Enhance workforce flexibility

Priorities for the Convergence Programmes will be informed by the economic strategies and will be locally relevant, but will complement those at regional, national and European level.

There will be an ERDF Convergence programme for Cornwall and the Isles of Scilly, West Wales and the Valleys and the Highlands and Islands.

There is also ESF which is being ring fenced to be spent within the Convergence areas and for those areas phasing-in to Regional Competitiveness and Employment areas such as Merseyside and South Yorkshire.

Regional Competitiveness and Employment

There will be funding Programmes in all areas of the UK which are not eligible for Convergence funding (see above).

Both ERDF and ESF structural funds will fund the programmes.

Regions which are classed as 'phasing-in' regions as they are lagging behind the other Regions in this category such as South Yorkshire and Merseyside will receive ring-fenced Regional Competitiveness and employment funding.

There are four main priorities:

- To promote innovation and knowledge transfer
- To stimulate enterprise
- To ensure sustainable development, production and consumption
- To build sustainable communities

The Government believes it would be beneficial to align ERDF spending directly with domestic funding through common processes and management arrangements, which would provide a more coordinated approach to regional investment.

Information as to the exact management of the fund and to how organisations can access the funding through this programme is currently unavailable in many parts of the UK including

Funding from Europe

Yorkshire and the Humber.

The ERDF information below is written as it applies to Yorkshire & Humber region. It will be a useful guide for those in other regions and countries but local programmes will differ.

The new ERDF Programme

The new European Regional Development Fund (ERDF) Programme for 2007-2013 has a far greater emphasis than previous EU Programmes on research and development, innovation and advanced business support. From the earliest stages of Programme development it was recognised that the region's universities and HEIs would be key to encouraging businesses to improve their efficiency, productivity and innovation.

Designed to capitalise on the region's opportunities rather than disadvantage, for the first time the objectives of the Programme are strongly aligned with the mainstream activities of the business support sector. There are no longer any geographical restrictions, and the targets for job creation are realistically set to reflect the emphasis on research and development and productivity gains rather than employment creation.

What can ERDF be used for?

The Programme has four main Priorities for action, in summary they are:

Priority 1 Promoting Innovation and R&D Objectives

- To stimulate and facilitate increased investment in innovation and R&D, engender a culture change and promote sustainable business practices
- To provide and support the infrastructure needed to stimulate innovation and R&D whilst ensuring the social, environmental and economic conditions are improved
- To increase and support the exploitation and commercialisation of knowledge, technologies and processes that underpin the future sustainability and growth of new and existing businesses and target clusters

Funding from Europe

Priority 2 Supporting and Stimulating Successful Enterprise Objectives

- To establish integrated business support for innovative and high growth businesses which enables them to grow more quickly
- To promote a more enterprising and entrepreneurial culture and support the growth of businesses at start-up and early stage and those with growth potential
- To promote the development of new and high technology clusters and sectors through investment in infrastructure
- To ensure that business growth supported by the Programme takes account of CO2 emissions and adopt environmental best practice

Priority 3 Sustainable Communities Objectives

- To improve connectivity to economic opportunities through tackling social, economic and digital exclusion faced by disadvantaged communities
- To increase economic activity and entrepreneurship within communities
- To create sustainable jobs in the social economy supported by existing and new social enterprises
- To promote active participation in the development of a knowledge driven economy.

Priority 4 Economic Infrastructure for a Competitive Economy (South Yorkshire only within Yorkshire & Humber)

- To support the Sheffield City Region Development Plan by developing the critical business/ environmental and cultural infrastructure in the four key urban centres and contribute to the development of an accessible knowledge economy
- To ensure that South Yorkshire has the digital infrastructure to support business competitiveness and the growth of the knowledge economy

How will partners be engaged?

In order to deliver the programme strategy and ensure alignment with, and additionality to, nationally funded activity, 'Priority Prospectuses' are being developed. These will set out the objectives of the Programme and identify those activities that will best deliver those objectives. The Priority Prospectuses will be iterative documents developed in consultation with partners. It is proposed that part of this consultation will involve convening ad hoc technical specialist groups that can contribute an independent, Priority specific technical knowledge to the development of the Prospectuses. The consultation process is not yet timetabled. Further details to follow. The Priority Prospectuses will be agreed by the Programme Monitoring Committee (see Annex C) in April 2008. Thereafter, proposals that meet the criteria set out in the Prospectuses will be invited to submit an Outline Business Plan (see Annex B for an outline of the process). The project selection process will be aligned with Yorkshire Forward's Single Pot PMF process.

In the meantime, if those in Yorkshire & Humber wish to discuss your proposals, the Europe Team in Yorkshire Forward will be able to assist. Key contacts are:

Growing Regions, Growing Europe Fourth Report on Economic and Social Cohesion Public Consultation

Funding from Europe

A Joint Response from England's RDAs - January 2008

Every few years the European Commission carries out a report into Economic & Social Cohesion, which examines how well the Structural Funds are achieving their objectives.

The East Midlands Development Agency (EMDA) on behalf of the English RDAs submitted a joint response last week to the European Commission's Fourth report on Economic and Social Cohesion which will clearly feed into the forthcoming EU Budget review.

The seven page response details information on the specific role the RDAs have in the coordination of sustainable regional economic development and their new delegated authority status from DCLG in the management and delivery of the 2007-2013 ERDF Competitiveness (and Convergence in the South West) Programmes.

Key messages to the Commission include:

RDAs support a more flexible, substantially simplified and coherent approach to the implementation of Structural Funds, in particular closer alignment with domestic policies at a regional level;

The RDAs also support the Commission's move towards streamlining and simplifying the rules surrounding programming and management;

RDAs are, and will continue to be well placed to bring together knowledge and experience of Regional Policy, from strategic and delivery perspectives.

The following web link takes you directly to all the contributions of the consultation on the future of EU Cohesion policy, also including a contribution made by Barnsley Metropolitan Borough Council.

ESF - National Programme

There are two main priorities:

- extending employment opportunities
- developing a skilled and adaptable workforce

Regional Skills Partnerships are now developing regional ESF frameworks for 2007-2013 on the basis of the proposal. The regional ESF frameworks will inform the delivery of the ESF programme so that it adds value to regional employment and skills priorities and complements other funding streams.
